

Looking Back to Look Forward:

Are we prepared for the next pandemic?

NOTIONAL SUMMIT EVENT AGENDA:

Sunday, October 14, 2018:

- Summit attendees arrive in College Station, Texas, and transfer to pre-reserved Summit hotels (The George & Cavalry Court)
- Special Texas-themed “Welcome Reception and Dinner” at The Cavalry Court Hotel begins at 6:30 PM.

Monday, October 15, 2018:

Following hotel breakfast attendees will be shuttled directly to the Bush School’s Annenberg Presidential Conference Center. This conference day will be a Chatham House Rule event for all attendees.

- Opening Plenary: Looking Back at the 1918 Pandemic with panelists including David Morens from NIH and Daniel Lucey from the Smithsonian Institution and Maj. Gen. Lester Martinez-Lopez and Dr. Jonathan Quick from MSH and more.
- Mid-Morning Keynote with a senior thought leader from the host nation community.
- Plenary 2: Leadership Continuity. A strategic panel discussion including such experts as Ken Bernard, former Special Assistant to President Barack Obama, and current US leadership focused on the importance of leadership to the pandemic response and bio-defense policy agendas.
- Summit Luncheon: where attendees can network directly with thoughts leaders from across the world.
- Afternoon Keynote: Building More Effective Mechanisms for Multisector Collaboration/Coordination by Susan Scribner, of Development Alternatives International (DAI).
- Plenary 3: One Health. This panel discussion will be led by Dr. Gerald Parker of Texas A&M together with experts Christine Kreuder Johnson of U. Calif. Davis, Kristian Andersen of Scripps Research Institute, Dr. Lei Zhou, China CDC Representative (Invited) and Susan Scribner of DAI, among others.
- Plenary 4: Innovations in Medical Counter Measures (MCMs) for Improved Pandemic Response. Panel will include such experts as Joe Frassica from Philips Healthcare, Barry Holtz from iBIO, Joseph Simmons from CEPI (Invited) and more.
- Summit Networking Reception and Dinner: hosted by the Scowcroft Institute of International Affairs.

Tuesday, October 16, 2018:

Following hotel breakfast attendees will be shuttled directly to the Bush School’s Annenberg Presidential Conference Center. This day will be a Non-Chatham House Rule day.

Texas A&M University Pandemic Response Innovation Forum

- Forum Background: By fostering wider inputs and public (non-Chatham House rule based) discussion among interested Summit attendees, TAMU faculty & students, the private sector, and state/local government representatives, we hope to identify new ideas and collaborative opportunities that prevent pandemic outbreaks, better prepare for potential pandemic outbreaks, and help respond to bio-defense and health security threats both in the U.S. and internationally.
- Morning Keynote: Congressman Bill Flores (R-TX-17th)
- Sponsor Innovation Presentation: by Rob Salerno of DAI concerning their innovative new “App.”
- Plenary 5: Corporate Global Citizenship. With such prestigious panelists as Guy Vernet from Merieux Foundation USA, and Rebecca Fish from Emergent BioSolutions and more.
- Panel 6: The New Generation. This panel will include quick brief by student simulation leaders led by Beth Cameron, Scowcroft Institute Fellow and former senior US Government official and thought leader.
- Box Luncheon for all attendees: all attendees are encouraged to stay for our full afternoon program but a box lunch is available for those who may need to depart for flights.
- Closing Panel: On the Ground Experts Discuss the DRC Outbreak and Ebola Response Challenges. Including Joseph Fair from the Scowcroft Institute, David Brett Major from Uniformed Services University and Jeremy Konyndyk of CGD and more.